

Liechtenstein to ratify the Istanbul Convention

PUBLISHED 16 APR 2021

(Illustration: iStockphoto)

The Special Event of the President of the General Assembly's event, a CSW65 Side Event, "Political Leadership and Violence Against Women and Girls: Prevention First" was held on 23 March 2021. A highlight of the meeting was that the Representative from Liechtenstein announced that the country was putting a bill through parliament to ratify the Istanbul Convention.

Liechtenstein, a small country sandwiched between Switzerland and Austria, only 25 kilometres long and with a population of less than 40,000, may not often grab headlines but with this announcement coming only days after Turkey announced it's intent to withdraw from the Convention, it was clearly a message to the international community, writes Francesca Fletcher Williams, SI Global Policy Coordinator at Soroptimist International.

Read the full article at Soroptimist International.org

Messages at time of print 24 April 2026, 17:59 CEST

No global messages displayed at time of print.